

Richard Lewis Blair married Catherine O'Donovan
27 Feb. 1827

ex National Library ex an Index. (Bond itself not extant - POK) Administration Bond
Honora Blair Bantry Widow. 1827

Newspaper of 12 June 1864

Anne third daughter of Richd. Blair and Catherine O'Donovan married at Cork June 1864
to William Sealy Barry M.D., Killarney and Joan eldest daughter of Rd. Blair and Catherine O'Donovan married Garrett Barry M.D.

(On Garrett's death Jane married Sullivan of Kilcomane - POK)

Maurice Cleary had a Public House and also held the sub Post Office at Dunbeacon. His wife was Bridget Shanahan.
They had three sons and two daughters. One of the daughters, Ellen, married Tonson Blair. The Blairs cut off his allowance when he married Ellen in Schull R.C.
Church but gave them enough money to go to Australia.
Tonson and Ellen had nine children in Australia. He was a handsome bearded man.

The foregoing told me by an old lady of 90 in Durrus in 1963.

The late Will Minehane, Drishane, Dunbeacon, speaking to me Nov. 1 1957: (He was then in his mid 80's)

"Jane Blair had two brothers, Charlie and Tonson
who married the Cleary girl and went to Australia.
Old Cleary told the Postman - who was my brother - not to give him Australian letters in public - his wife talked too much. This day they were ploughing, and my brother came to the field. He gave Cleary a wink, and after a while Cleary said to his son,
'Take the reins, they (the horses) are now ploughing
all right' and he went aside and got the letter.
Old Cleary could read well. The Coastguards would show him the chart, and he could tell them what water was over every rock in Dunmanus Bay. The Shanahans had the Public House, and Cleary, who was from Durrus, married the daughter, and they later held the Public House".

Cork Historical & Archaeological Journal 1897, page 107

List of Cork County Justices of the Peace and date of Commission.
Richard Blair, Bantry 8 Oct. 1766.